

MASONIC CLUBS GUESTS AT FAIR

Almas Temple Promises It Will Surpass Previous Occasions.

HOSTS TO REDMEN

Shriners Entertain 600 of Order—Cadets Will Hold Sway Tomorrow.

"Masonic Clubs' Night" which will be observed at the Almas Temple Shrine Fair tonight, will surpass any preceding special occasion held so far by those in charge of the big entertainment at Convention Hall, according to J. J. P. Mullane, director of arrangements.

L. H. Trautman, national president of the Masonic clubs of the United States, has accepted an invitation to be present and assist illustrious Potentate Leonard P. Stewart to receive the guests, representatives from practically every Masonic body in the District.

Many special committees were appointed last night by Mr. Stewart to assist the several units of Almas' Fair in showing the visitors the features of the Shrine.

More than 600 members of the Redmen Order were received last night.

Tomorrow night, the High School Cadets of the District will be given full sway, and all students appearing at the hall in uniform, and accompanied by women, will be admitted free.

The climax of the huge entertainment will be reached Saturday night when all fraternal bodies in the city will be asked to participate in the festivities.

SAYS PAYING TAX IS CHRISTIAN DUTY

U. S. Chamber of Commerce Official Stresses Biblical Law.

Emphasizing the spirit of the day on which income taxes are due, William Mather Lewis, of the United States Chamber of Commerce, yesterday asked citizens to give their returns to their God as they rendered unto the government the things which belonged to the government, speaking before the Lenten services in B. F. Keith's Theater.

"We celebrate many birthdays in this land of ours; birthdays of George Washington, Lincoln, Independence Day, personal birthdays; but I believe this day, March 15, is the most important of all birthdays, since it is today we give up our taxes to the government," Mr. Lewis said.

He told of Jesus' answer to those who questioned him about payment of his taxes in which Jesus picked up a coin and read the inscription: "Render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and unto God the things which are God's." He applied the answer to the present.

George Wales, Civil Service Commissioner, presided. With him on the stage were First Assistant Postmaster General John H. Bartlett, Representative Martin A. Morrison, Mr. Helen G. Gardner, Civil Service Commissioner; Postmaster M. O. Chance and John Hider, of the National Chamber of Commerce. Col. John Temple Graves will speak today.

Both the bride, who wore a simple but becoming gown of gray chiffon, and the bridegroom were unwell. Immediately after the ceremony they left for New York and they will sail on Saturday for England. After a two months' holiday abroad, they will return to Washington to spend June with Mr. and Mrs. Sweet, later sailing to Brunswick, Me., where they will make their home.

A number of guests from other cities attended the wedding. The Rev. Mr. Sweet was accompanied by Mrs. Sweet and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll F. Sweet, of Grand Rapids, another brother and sister-in-law of the bride. The little group of guests also included Prof. Perrywood's sister, Miss Maud Staggwood, of Brunswick, Me.; Mrs. M. Bradford Scott, of Hartford, Conn.; Miss Muriel Haynes, of Augusta, Me.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Staggwood, and Mrs. Charles K. Bolton, of Brookline, Mass.; Horace R. Sturges, of Augusta, Me., and Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Duncan, of Ridge-wood, N. J.
